Herald won the pennant in the Commercial League yesterday, when they downed Walford in an exciting struggle Score, 4 to 2. Rawlings twirled gilt-edged ball for the winners, fanning ten and following this up by driving in the winning tallies. The game was in doubt until the sixth, when an error, a sacrifice hit, and a two-sacker put two runs over the pan and clinched the contest for Herald. Both teams put up a fast article of ball, but Herald was fortunate enough to bunch their hits at the right time, which tells The Score.

THE TRUSTY DOBBIN.

They doom you, Dobbin, now and then, they say your usefulness is gone; some blame fool thing designed by men has put the equine race in pawn. They doomed you, and your hopes were low, when bicycles were all the rage; they said: "The horse will have to gohe lags superfl'ous on the stage!" They doomed you when the auto-car was given its resplendent birth. "Thus sinks the poor old horse's star-he'll have to beat it from the earth!" And now they're dooming you some more, there are so many motor things; men scorch the earth with sullen roar, or float around on hardware wings. They doom you, Dobbin, now and then, and call you has-been, and the like; but while this world is breeding men the horse will still be on the pike. No painted thing of cogs and wheels and entrails made of noisy brass can e'er supplant a horse's heels, or make man grudge a horse his grass. No manmade trap of bars and strings can love or confidence impart, nor give the little neigh that brings emotion to the horseman's heart. O build your cars and ships and planes, and doom old Dobbin as you will! While men have souls and hearts and brains, old Dobbin shall be with us still. (Copyright, 1910, by George Matthew Adams.)

Ninth practically won the pennant in the Sunday School League by defeating Hamline, 8 to 1. Only by losing both of their remaining games, and then losing the play-off with Hamline, could Ninth lose the pennant.

It looked like the game would result in a pitchers' battle at the beginning, but the third round proved to be the undoing of the heretofore unbeatable Birch, when Richmond led off with a single and Walter was hit in the slats. Buehler bunted down the first base line, and dodged Goodman, when he tried to hold Richmond on second and get Buehler, too, thus filling the bases with none out. Marceron tripled down third base line cleaning the bags, and Moreland followed suit with another triple in the same place. M. Broome then doubled down the third base line. C. Broome was out Heinrich to Goodman. Hands drove a high fly to right, and M. Broome was doubled up

Elks and Knights Primed for Charity Game.

KELLIHER BATTERY TO WORK

With This Card the Elks Hope to Best Their Rivals-Board of Governors of Aloysius Club Protests Against State of Affairs in the Capital City Circuit.

By N. T. WORLEY.

The big benefit game Friday afternoon at American League Park between the Washington Lodge of Elks and the Knights of Columbus for the benefit of St. Vincent's Orphan Asylum, promises to be a treat. The Elks boast many of Washington's best ball tossers among their number, and the same is equally true of the Knights of Columbus. The line-up of the Elks is a corker, and it's a sure bet that the Knights will have to hustle to beat the antlered aggregation. Gen. McWade is marked down to do the left fielding stunts, while the remainder of the outer garden will be taken care of by R. F. Downing and Hugh Harvey. Andrew J. Cummings, popuarly known as "Old Cy," will gobble up all the wild heaves that come toward first base. He will have a stonewall bunch of assistants to help him choke off any stray Knight that wanders down the base line. "Kid" Elberfeld, who is a prominent Elk, is placed at second base. Merrill Vaughn will cover third, at which position he has made himself famous in amateur ball for the past several years, while the venerable "Buck" Venneman, who has seen many years of service with the amateurs in Washington, will take care of the short field.

Now we don't like to disappoint the Knights before the day of the game, but we must tell you who is going to pitch for the Elks, because we know when we tell you you wouldn't miss seeing the battle for all the money in the world. The Elks think that in the Kelliher battery they have the winning combination, and they challenge the Knights of Columbus to beat this team, if they can The Elks aggregation has been under the charge of "Phil" King, a good player imself, who has managed to get them into winning shape.

The Knights of Columbus team is in the hands of James A. O'Shea, who is planning to put one over on his friendly rivals when the umpire calls "play. "Jim" wouldn't divulge his line-up, but it is undoubtedly a good one, and the game is going to be a corker.
